

Masterthesis supplement.

Each year one supplement is published commissioned by the BeSARPP which contains the masterthesis manuscripts submitted by Belgian anaesthetic trainees in fulfilment of the requirements to graduate and receive the Master after Master diploma in specialized medicine together with the recognition as consultant anaesthetist.

All masterthesis should fully comply with the style of the journal as described in the guide to authors. The masterthesis should also adhere to the guidelines related to the type of submitted article (original paper, narrative review, systematic review, etc...). Please therefore follow correctly the guide to authors. If masterthesis are not correctly formatted and the guide is not followed, the peer review process can not start and acceptance is not possible.

All manuscripts should be submitted prior to April 15th of a given year if they want to be included in the supplement of the same year.

The editorial secretariat will evaluate and check adherence to the author guidelines. Authors will be asked to correct any shortcomings before the peer review process can start.

Normal and regular peer review process will then be started as for any other submitted paper to the journal. A minimum of 3-4 reviewers will be invited and at least 2 reviewers + the handling editor should review the paper.

Commissioned Review Manuscripts

The editorial board of the Acta Anaesthesiologica Belgica can invite established authors to write a topical review on a topic related to anaesthesia, intensive care, chronic pain or emergency medicine. Upon acceptance to write such a "commissioned or invited" review, the manuscript will be handled through the editorial management system. The manuscript should have a maximum length of 5000 words.

All stylistic and formatting rules as described in the guide to authors should also be used for commissioned reviews. Commissioned reviews will undergo a full peer review process as any other submission to the journal.
